Spring and Fall Schedule of War Eagle Fair

As an ever-increasing number of citizens in Southwest Arkansas are attending the seasonal craft fairs in the Ozarks I am publishing today the 1971 schedule of the biggest of 'em all—staged by the War Eagle Arts & Crafts Fair Association.

The Spring Show this year will be held April 30 and May 1-2; a second show June 14-16—and the major Arts & Crafts Fair Oct. 15-18-17. It's this last one your editor has photographed twice in color and published in The Star. Because of the remote location of War Eagle—in the back country southwest of Eureka Springs—I am giving you some road tips on the most direct route from Hope.

Your route:
No. 29 to Nashville
No. 27 to Danville
No. 10 to Booneville
No. 23 almost to Eureka Springs—a few miles short of Eureka you encounter No. 12, turn left on 12 and you hit War Eagle.

You might clip out today's column which includes both routing and Fair schedule dates. Here is the official press release from War Eagle:

WAR EAGLE, Ark. — An impressive schedule of events for 1971 is planned by the War Eagle Arts and Crafts Fair Association, which had its biggest season ever last year by breaking all records in attendance and exhibitor participation.

This year's calendar of events includes the ninth annual "Back-in-the-Hills" Antique Show set for April 30 and May 1-2; the second annual Art and Craft Seminar, June 14-16; and the 18th annual Arts and Crafts Fair, Oct. 15-18-17.

The antique show attracts dealers from all over the Midwest, and affords participants and visitors a unique experience in a springtime atmosphere.

The seminar, which was a big success in its debut last year, will again feature noted and qualified arts and crafts instructors who will teach the outdoor classes. A catalog with a complete listing of classes and information on fees will be available soon, according to fair director Mrs. Blanche H. Elliott.

Anyone wishing to contact Mrs. Elliott for further information can write to her at War Eagle Mills Farm, Rt. 1, Hindsville, Ark., 72738.

Closing out 1971's activities will be the inimitable War Eagle Fair, which is recognized as the leading fair of the Ozarks.

Fair board officers are Clyde Wyant, War Eagle, chairman; Hank Spruce, Ft. Smith, vice president; and Mrs. Helen Jackson, War Eagle, secretary-treasurer.

Board members include M.E. Oliver, Huntsville; David Greer, Prague, Okla.; Mrs. Ruth L. Dilley, Springdale; Lester Elliott, War Eagle; and Mrs. Elliott, Wyant, and Mrs. Jackson.

A new addition to the fall fair will be another large tent to better accommodate more participants and visitors.

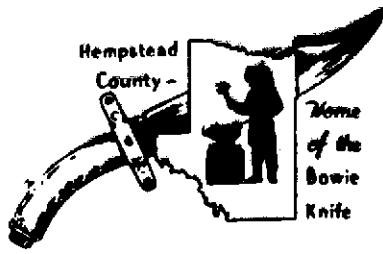

Fayetteville Reports 8 Below Zero

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A massive ridge of cold, arctic high pressure sprawled across the Central United States produced the coldest temperatures of the winter in North and Central Arkansas this morning. Sub zero readings were reported in the northwest and north portions of the state with temperatures in the teens elsewhere in the state.

In snow-covered Fayetteville, the temperature dropped to eight below zero before dawn. The high pressure ridge that is dominating the state's weather picture will drift slowly eastward during the next two days and slightly warmer temperatures are forecast for Wednesday.

Laird Claims Withdrawal on Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the South Vietnamese drive into Laos is "on schedule" and will enable the United States to "meet or beat" its plans to withdraw 50,000 more troops from South Vietnam by May 1.

Laird commented as he went before a closed session of the Senate Armed Services Committee to give details of South Vietnamese ground operations in Cambodia and in Laos.

Laird told newsmen that some 10,000 American troops in South Vietnam are operating as "backup" forces to the Saigon forces on the two operations.

No Better Place to Go Than the Past for a Nice Restful Trip

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — One should not live in the past, we are told.

But is there a better place in the world to go for a nice restful trip away from the perils of today? Trying to project one's self into the future is no good, because we have no guide roads there, and anyway the future looms up as perplexing and ominous as the present.

No, only in the past is there safety. It had its perils, too, of course, but we conquered them, or at least survived them. And what we treasure in memory of all our yesterdays are those moments which in reverie now still make us smile or inspire a tear no longer bitter.

Vietnamese Cross Key Supply Trail in Laos, Seize Supplies, Arms

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese armored column drove across the Ho Chi Minh trail in southern Laos today, sweeping up sizable ammunition caches left by hurriedly retreating North Vietnamese.

While the push into Laos met only light ground resistance and harassing shelling attacks, a parallel drive by 20,000 South Vietnamese troops in Cambodia ran into stiff opposition.

North Vietnamese troops launched three heavy attacks on the edge of the rubber plantation town of Snuol, five miles inside Cambodia and about 90 miles north of Saigon. South Vietnamese headquarters said 73 North Vietnamese were killed with the help of U.S. air strikes, while Saigon's losses were 10

—This raised to 407 the number of North Vietnamese reported killed in the Cambodian phase of the operation in the past week, while South Vietnamese losses now total 45 killed and 203 wounded, a spokesman said.

On the Laotian front 300 miles to the north, a South Vietnamese field commander said he expected his troops during the next 10 days to push along Route 9 as far as they could toward Savannakhet, 125 miles across the Laotian panhandle on the border between Laos and Thailand. He did not say just how far his troops would try to go, however.

The lead South Vietnamese units were reported 12 miles inside Laos, meeting light contact with the enemy as they advanced toward the town of Sepone, 25 miles from the border.

Sepone is a main North Vietnamese transshipment point and base area, but the town was said to be virtually deserted.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 10 of its troops were killed and 44 wounded Monday, the opening day of the drive.

This included six killed along with four American crewmen when enemy gunners shot down a U.S. helicopter.

Known enemy losses were 14 killed, a spokesman said.

Former County Judge Dies

MELBOURNE, Ark. (AP) — W. E. Billingsley of Melbourne, a former state representative and county judge, died Monday.

Billingsley was elected county circuit clerk of Izard County in 1932 and was elected sheriff and collector in 1937 and 1938.

He served in the House of Representatives in 1939 and was elected to the first of three terms as county judge in 1940. He was prosecutor for the 16th Judicial District from 1958 until 1964.

Murder Trial Is Postponed

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — The first-degree murder trial of Buddy Compton, 24, of Branson, Mo., which was set to begin today in circuit court here, was postponed Monday until Feb. 16 because of the weather.

Branson is charged in the Sept. 19, 1970 beating death of T. J. Fiveash, 53, a farmer of Hasty (Newton County).

5 Civilians Killed in Ireland

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Five men were killed on a mountain trail near the Irish republic border today by the explosion of a land mine which police said Irish republicans had planted.

The victims—two technicians for the British Broadcasting Corp. and three construction workers—were driving to the top of Brougher Mountain to check a BBC TV-radio transmitter damaged by an explosion last month.

In Belfast, Protestants interrupted the funeral procession of Barney Watts, a Catholic victim of rioting last weekend. A construction crane was pushed across the road as the cortege passed a Protestant neighborhood, and a youth from a Protestant crowd snatched the Irish republic flag from the coffin.

British troops and police moved in to keep the Protestants and Catholics apart.

Watts, 28, had been shot by a soldier. Police identified him as a member of the militant "provisional" wing of the underground Irish Republican Army.

Quake Hits California, Two Killed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A powerful earthquake hit Southern California at 6:01 a.m. today, causing two reported deaths, numerous injuries and cracking buildings and highways.

The jolting temblor was felt over at least 350 miles from Fresno to below the Mexican border but damage was worst in Los Angeles and its heavily populated San Fernando Valley. Center of the shock was reported as 17 miles north of the valley in the rugged San Gabriel Mountains.

Major damage was reported in the two closest towns of Newhall and Saugus, 35 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles.

The shock came as a series of violent jolts, followed by rocking motion lasting nearly a minute.

Buildings swayed and cracked. Windows shattered. Highways cracked and buckled. One major freeway was closed.

Merchandise in stores and household objects on tables and shelves tumbled to floors. Power and phone service was interrupted in many areas, with transformers popping like firecrackers and high voltage lines snapped. Swimming pools sloshed over.

The magnitude of the shock was rated at between 6 and 6.5 on the Richter scale, which rates major quakes at 7 or more. It was the strongest quake in the Los Angeles area

Car Leaves Road Knocks Out Power Line

A 1970 Opel driven by Emil Mitchell Jr. of Indiana left highway 67 near the State Police Headquarters Station and knocked down an electrical pole early Tuesday.

Mitchell escaped serious injury. A girl companion suffered head lacerations and was taken to a local hospital for treatment.

The accident knocked out electrical service to Perrytown and area for a couple of hours before workmen could repair the line.

State Police Trooper Wallace Martin said Mitchell simply went to sleep at the wheel.

Rock Island Derailment

A railroad spokesman said that all of the military cars were empty. No one was injured.

Rail Clerks Set Strike for March 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gambling that Congress will not again step in to postpone a nationwide rail strike, the Railway Clerks Union today set a strike deadline of 12:01 a.m. EST March 1.

C. L. Dennis, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, AFL-CIO, announced the strike deadline at a news conference that was postponed one day because of last minute talks that failed to produce an agreement.

Dennis said half the 200,000 BRAC members who work on railroads still have not received the 13 1/2 per cent retroactive pay increase Congress imposed when it postponed a similar strike threat by four railway unions nearly two months ago.

At that time Congress forbade any strike until March 1.

"On March 1, 1971, in the absence of new agreements, we are legally free to strike," Dennis said. "BRAC believes that the situation clearly calls for the exercise of that democratic right."

He said the union again would offer to exempt from any strike all passenger trains, military goods, and coal for electric power plants.

Eclipse of Moon Over Continent

NEW YORK (AP) — A total eclipse of the moon will be visible tonight, where skies are clear, throughout the continental United States and Canada.

The lunar spectacular will begin at 12:52 a.m. EST when the moon starts to pass through the earth's shadow.

The moon will darken as the shadow spreads across the lunar disk with totality lasting from 2:03 a.m. until 3:26 a.m.

By 4:37 a.m. the western edge of the moon will have cleared the shadow.

Personnel from the Red River School will also assist in typing and nurse duties. Haskell Jones, Bloodmobile chairman, reminds residents of Hempstead County that they are not eligible for Red Cross blood outside the county unless they or a member of their family has given in the past twelve months.

That date again is Monday, Feb. 15, 12 noon to 6:00 p.m., First United Methodist Church in Hope.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 14's explorers blaze back to planet earth today, climaxing a voyage of discovery they regard as a smashing success.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa were on a perfect course to slam back into the atmosphere 76 miles above the Pacific Ocean at 24,600 miles an hour.

Splashdown was set for 4:04 p.m. EST about 874 miles south of American Samoa.

It will be Wednesday at the planned touchdown site, eight miles west of the international dateline.

The main recovery ship, the helicopter carrier USS New Orleans, reported the weather outlook in the landing zone was near perfect with some clouds, winds 12 to 18 miles an hour, 3- to 6-foot seas and 80-degree temperature.

Television cameras were ready to relay the landing and recovery.

As the nine-day, 900,000-mile adventure neared an end, Shepard, Mitchell and Roosa held a news conference Monday night in a final telecast from their command ship Kitty Hawk.

Answering questions prepared by newsmen, moonwalkers Shepard and Mitchell described their fabled struggle to reach the rim of Cone Crater, and the nuisance of lunar dust, and assessed their mission. All three discussed their impressions, both emotionally and as space test pilots.

Shepard and Mitchell said that only the clock defeated their effort to reach the edge of the crater, which rises 400 feet above the surface up a long sloping incline. To reach it they had to pick their way through a boulder field in which huge rocks loomed 10 or 12 feet in height above them.

During the climb the astronauts' heartbeats nearly doubled and they were breathing heavily. Mission Control advised them to rest often.

Citizen of Year to Be Honored

The Hope-Hempstead County Chamber of Commerce voted at its regular meeting to honor the Citizen of the Year in Hope-Hempstead County for 1970.

Any Hempstead County resident is eligible to make a written nomination. The nomination should indicate reasons why this person should be so honored. A person does not have to be a member of the Chamber of Commerce to be eligible.

Gillham Dam Hearing Continues

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A hearing on a suit seeking a permanent injunction to halt work on the Gillham Dam on the Cossatot River was to continue today in U.S. District Court here.

Richard S. Arnold of Texarkana said Monday during the hearing that the description of the dam and several procedural matters did not comply with the National Environmental Act of 1969.

Arnold, who is attorney for four conservation groups seeking the injunction, said that the full effect of the dam on the ecology of the river could not be known unless more information was known about the fish and wildlife of the stream.

The suit seeking the injunction was initiated last Oct. 1 against the Army Engineers by the Environmental Defense Fund of New York, the Ozark Society, the Arkansas Audubon Society and the Arkansas Ecology Center.

The plaintiffs, who want to keep the Cossatot in its present free-flowing state through Southwest Arkansas, claim that the dam will alter detrimentally the ecology of the river and surrounding areas.

The suit alleges that the Army Engineers has not fulfilled its obligations under the NEPA of 1969, which requires under certain circumstances precautions by federal agencies to preserve the environment while carrying out the work.

The $15.3 million project is about two-thirds complete with about $9.6 million spent on it, but work on the dam proper has not yet begun.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Walter G. Riddick told the court that the government feels that the case "has no business in this court or any other court." He said the case "involved declaration of congressional policy."

Several individuals and cities in the area of the dam have entered the suit in support of the dam, which is designed to control flooding.

J. L. Patterson, an expert with the Geological Survey, testified Monday that it probably would be 100 to 200 years before the recurrence of a flood in 1968 when the river showed a depth of 22.6 feet.

Roy Wood of Atlanta, Ga., regional director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, testified that a report compiled by his office indicated that 60 miles of the Cossatot above the dam site should be left free-flowing to insure the best use of the river as a recreational facility.

Dr. Frank C. Craighead Jr. of Moose, Wyo., told the court that the Cossatot was "excellent" for fishing and "very good" for boating. Craighead said he made an inspection trip of the river Sunday.

Craighead is president of the Environmental Research Institute at Moose. He is recognized as an authority on wild rivers.

Girl Scouts Taking Orders for Cookies

Beginning February 12 through February 20 the Girl Scouts in Hempstead County will be taking cookie orders for their annual cookie sale.

Five delicious varieties — pecanettes, peanut butter, butter-flavored, shorties, assorted sandwich and cookie mint — will be available at 50¢ a box. The cookies will be delivered March 26 - April 3 to customers who have placed orders. Also, during this period the community will be given another opportunity to buy the butter-flavored shorties and peanut butter sandwich cookies.

The profits from the cookie sale are shared by the council and troops. Troops receive a bonus for every box sold; and troops use these funds for troop camping, trips, service projects, cookouts and parties. The council's share is used for improvement of the camping properties, purchase of camping equipment, subsidizing special activities and for other capital expenditure.

A Girl Scout salesman can qualify for incentive awards and earn her fee to Camp High Point, near Mena, Arkansas; or to other special events. In addition, she learns responsibility, how to handle money and how to apply her Girl Scout Promise and Laws while making her sales.

The 1971 Conifer Council Cookie Sale Committee consists of Mrs. Bobby R. Revels, chairman, Mrs. Jerry Day, Mrs. Fred Norton and Mrs. Denver Randleman, of Texarkana. The chairwomen of the cookie sale in Hope and Hempstead County are Mrs. William Routon and Mrs. Tom Duncan.

was "living by the letter as well as the intent" of congressional prohibitions on using those men in Laos or Cambodia.

Laird said the 10,000 troops are in contrast to the 50,000 which the United States plans to bring home by May 1, lowering the U.S. troop level to 284,000.

"We will meet or beat that troop ceiling and will continue to go forward with troop withdrawals," Laird said.

Asked whether the operation in Laos has been successful so far, Laird said it was "going forward on the schedule the South Vietnamese Joint General Staff and commanders in the field outlined. It is on time."

Laird repeated administration statements that the Laos operation would be "limited" but declined to say in days, weeks or months how long it might last.

He said the operations in both countries will speed Vietnamization of the war and added:

"South Vietnam will not win every battle. But it is capable of winning most battles."

Also today, Secretary of State William P. Rogers agreed to testify about the new Indochina war developments before a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

There were indications Rogers and Laird might spell out what Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott called President Nixon's personal timetable for complete withdrawal of U.S. combat forces from Indochina.

Scott said Monday the President had mentioned the timetable to a few aides, including Rogers and Laird.

"Personally, I think it is hoped and intended to have all ground-combat troops withdrawn by midsummer," Scott said.

The latest timetable announced by the Defense Department would reduce U.S. strength in Vietnam to 284,000 men by May 1, compared with the current estimated 335,000.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the invasion, aided by U.S. fliers, could lead to reversal of Nixon's withdrawal policy.

Israel Offers to Help Clean Suez Canal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Israel expressed a willingness today to help Egypt clear the Suez Canal, blocked by sunken vessels since the 1967 Middle East war.

But Premier Golda Meir said in Jerusalem any Israeli withdrawal of troops from the east bank of the canal would be incumbent on peace with Egypt.

Mrs. Meir, making an official reply to the proposal of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to open the canal if Israeli troops withdrew, said: "It seems to me peculiar to propose a withdrawal ... outside the framework of agreed arrangements for a total end to the war."

The premier told the Knesset, Israel's Parliament, that the Sadat proposal "simply isn't clear" and needed considerable clarification.

Earlier a spokesman for the Egyptian government said any Israeli requests for clarification of Sadat's demand for "partial withdrawal" of troops would be a delaying tactic.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Israeli raiders blew up a customs post in south Lebanon Monday night to retaliate for an attack Sunday by Palestinian guerrillas on an Israeli patrol, a newspaper in Beirut reported today.

Al Bairak said the post was near Tel Nihaz, a few miles north of the frontier. Spokesmen for the Lebanese government and the Palestinians refused to confirm or deny the report.

Israel resumed retaliatory raids in Lebanon last December after a three-month pause. The Beirut government reportedly has pressured the guerrillas to stop using Lebanese territory to launch attacks against Israel.

Israeli forces also were in action Monday night across the cease-fire line on the Syrian frontier. Sources said Arabs started shooting with bazookas and machine guns north of Quneitra, and the fire was returned. The Israelis reported no casualties.

In Cairo, a spokesman for the Egyptian government said an Israeli request for clarification of President Anwar Sadat's demand for a "partial withdrawal" of Israeli troops from the Suez Canal would be a delaying tactic.

Israel reportedly plans to approach Egypt through U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring to determine whether Sadat meant withdrawal of all Israeli forces to a new line in the Sinai Desert or just a thinning out of Israeli troops along the canal.

No Decision on Law School at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Senate Judiciary "B" Committee heard more than two hours of testimony Monday evening and then refused to make a recommendation on a bill that would provide the means for a fulltime law school in Little Rock.

Supporters of the proposal made by the Executive Committee of the Arkansas Bar Association said the measure was vital for the state's legal education program.

Opponents argued that the state could not support two "good" fulltime law schools. They also said the measure, supported by the Executive Committee of the Arkansas Bar Association, would erode the quality of legal education.

Sen. Guy H. Jones of Conway, chairman of the Senate committee, said the committee might vote today on the measure.

The bill would assess an additional $1 fee on each case filed in Arkansas courts. The money would be used by the University of Arkansas Board of Trustees for legal education. The board could also issue bonds for improvements at the Law School at Fayetteville and for construction at Little Rock.

Dean Ralph Barnhart of the University of Arkansas' Law School at Fayetteville spoke in favor of the bill, saying the Law School desperately needed more facilities.

Dr. Robert A. Leflar of Fayetteville, former dean of the Law School, opposed the measure, saying: "One good fulltime law school is likely all there is to be in Arkansas in the foreseeable future." He said that if there is to be a fulltime law school at Little Rock, it should be built on the campus of the University of Arkansas at Little Rock and the Law School at Fayetteville should be abandoned.

'Fair Trade' Law Stalled in Senate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Confusion arose Monday over who was supposed to be handling in the Senate the administration's bill that would repeal the state's "fair trade" liquor law.

Each of two senators who were thought to be sponsoring the bill, Max Howell of Little Rock and Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway, said they did not know they were supposed to handle the proposal, which has been pending in the Senate Judiciary B Committee since its passage Jan. 20 in the House.

Rep. Cecil Alexander of Heber Springs, who managed the measure through the House, said Monday he thought Jones was to sponsor the bill in the Senate. Martin Borchert, Gov. Dale Bumpers' liaison with the Senate, said Howell had agreed to sponsor the bill.

When first approached by newsmen, Howell said he had not been asked to sponsor the measure.

Asked if the administration planned to let the bill die, Sen. Ben Allen of Little Rock, a close friend to Bumpers, said, "Hell no!" He said he would sponsor the bill himself if necessary.

Rapid Transit Fight Looms

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — "I will fight tooth and nail to keep anyone from using money from highway taxes for rapid transit systems," the trucking industry's highest elected official says.

C. James McCormick, board chairman of the American Trucking Association, said the truckers' attitude toward rapid transit is that "people who use it should pay for it."

"Truckers pay more than 35 percent of all highway taxes for about 16 percent of the total number of vehicles in this country," he said in an interview. The group opened a convention here Sunday.

seable future." He said that if there is to be a fulltime law school at Little Rock, it should be built on the campus of the University of Arkansas at Little Rock and the Law School at Fayetteville should be abandoned.

Merit Plan Fails in House Vote

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Opponents of Gov. Dale Bumpers' plan to create a comprehensive merit system for state employees wrought the failure of the measure Monday in the Arkansas House, but another vote is likely.

The House voted 52-36 to pass the bill, but Rep. H. Woody Clark of Forrest City asked for a "sounding of the ballot" — a poll of the House. The votes of four representatives who were not in the chamber at the time of the poll were challenged by opponents and were thrown out, leaving the vote at 48-36, three short of the number needed for passage.

The bill remained alive, however, when Rep. Lacy Landers of Benton gave notice of reconsideration, a parliamentary device that could pave the way for another vote within three days.

The Bumpers merit system plan would establish procedures governing the hiring, training, promotion, dismissal and suspension of state employees. The bill would become effective July 1, 1972, and bring about 7,000 more state employees under the merit system. Between 2,700 and 3,000 are now under a state merit system.

Failure of the bill was the first defeat for an administration bill in the House.

Rep. Charles R. Moore of Luxora, one of the sponsors, said a comprehensive merit system would take politics out of the hiring and firing of state employees.

He said a "to the victor belong the spoils" philosophy had prevailed in state employment because of a lack of a merit system.

Rep. W. H. Thompson of Marked Tree, opposing the bill, said he disagreed with Moore on the spoils philosophy.

He said now was not the time to enact a merit system because the state had inefficient employees and they should be "weeded out." Thompson indicated that he thought some of those who should be removed were among the "thousands and thousands" of persons he said were hired by the state during the administration of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Rep. John Bethell of Des Arc said a comprehensive merit system centralized authority and would give "somebody" too much power.

"If we vote the merit system in, thousands of employees can say 'to devil with you, you can't fire me,' and they can treat the people of Arkansas like they want to," said Rep. W. Foster Sr. of England.

Foster said a merit system would enable state employees to band together and "tie up" state government operations until they got something they wanted, such as a salary increase.

The Senate spent most of its day deliberating on amendments to legislation. It concurred in a House amendment to a bill by Sen. Oscar Alagood of Little Rock that would follow the governor to appoint a state poet laureate, completing legislative action on the measure.

The amendment would require the governor to make the appointment from a list submitted by the heads of English

The Senate rejected a proposed amendment to a House bill to extend the state income tax exemption to retirement pay of former military personnel. The amendment would have allowed the tax on all but the first $4,000 of retirement income of nontotally disabled veterans.

The House approved 87-0 an administration bill sponsored by Rep. J. L. Shaver Jr. of Wynne that would authorize the state Planning Commission to offer lands formed in navigable streams to state agencies before the islands are offered for public sale.

The House approved a resolution by Rep. Vada Sheid of Mountain Home that calls on the state Game and Fish Commission to rescind the $2 fee it has voted to charge for trout fishing.

Mrs. Sheid said the fee would be burdensome on many retired persons who live in North Central Arkansas and take advantage of the region's trout fishing in lakes and streams.

She questioned the constitutionality of the charge, since the constitutional amendment that created the Game and Fish Commission prohibits the commission from charging licenses in excess of $1.50 without legislative approval. She said the fee was, in effect, an increase in the $3.50 fishing license.

Supporters of the controversial turnpike authority bill got the House to commit the measure to the Roads and Highways Committee, although the proposal already has gone through the Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Rep. Julian Streett of Camden said the move was an attempt to prevent the House from hearing two amendments that had been approved by the Revenue and Taxation Committee.

One amendment would levy a one-cent gasoline tax increase for the construction of toll roads and the other would require voter approval of any turnpike proposed for construction. Supporters of the turnpike bill say the amendments are designed to kill the measure.

Food Costs Rise Fast as Wages

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food costs rose as fast as wages last year, catching up for the first time in 12 years, the Agriculture Department says.

Take-home pay and food costs jumped 5.5 percent each in 1970, with 16.7 cents of each dollar going to food bills. It was the same cost-per-dollar as in 1969, a point reached in gradual declines since a peak of 20.9 cents in 1958.

This year, the report said, total food costs will continue to rise but at a much slower rate, perhaps only 2 to 3 percent.

In fact, the report said, food bought at retail stores in 1971 may average only 1 to 2 percent higher, compared with a 5 percent supermarket boost last year.

But prices in restaurants will continue rising at a faster clip. Last year they went up 7.5 percent, an increase the report said might be shaved a bit in 1971. Retail store prices for pork, eggs, poultry, potatoes and some vegetables are expected to drop, while higher prices are forecast for fish, dairy products, cereals, sugar and processed vegetables.

In all, the nation's food bill could total between $118 billion and $121 billion in 1971, compared with $114.3 billion last year, a $9-billion gain from 1969.

Although the USDA report indicated hopes food prices may not gain as much this year, the department's batting average in this category is not without blemish.

A year ago, in a similar report, the department predicted all food prices in 1970 would gain 3.5 to 4 percent. But the forecast had to be revised several times before the year ended with the 5.5 percent increase.

Officials said lower prices for farm products are chief reasons for the current outlook on a slower gain in 1971. Economists have indicated net farm income will be down this year from $15.8 billion in 1970.

ber killed in the fighting was scheduled later in the day. The land mine explosion in a remote area near Enniskillen, in the southwestern part of Northern Ireland, brought to 11 the number killed since simmering Catholic-Protestant feuds erupted a week ago in a new phase.

Security officials blame the current outbreak on an intensified IRA guerrilla campaign to join the largely Protestant province with the Catholic republic to the south to end 50 years of Irish partition.

The blast was near Trillick, about 15 miles from Omagh, where the Duke of Kent, cousin of Queen Elizabeth II commands an armored squadron.

Authorities said the mine had probably been intended for army or police patrols. But they said it appeared to have no direct connection with the presence of the 35-year-old duke, who as a symbol of British rule has been mentioned as a possible IRA target.

Today's quake appeared to be about the magnitude of the 1933 quake in nearby Long Beach which killed more than 100.

The Golden State Freeway, major north-south artery, was closed at the west end of the San Fernando Valley due to damage. It was close to the reported center of the quake.

Residents near Van Norman Reservoir near the community of San Fernando were evacuated after reports its dam had suffered damage.

We haven't the faintest idea who came forth with this gem of wisdom, but we thoroughly agree ...

That is why it is so important to always look your very best every day of every week of every month of the year.

Good grooming is rather a simple habit and once conquered can change your whole life. Just think how great it would be to "dress for company" every morning. Let's try it for one month and see what happens.

Whether you are going to a meeting or to work, Leslie Fay Spring print's will take you places. We like the black and white with the red belt.

The Avalon shirtdress in print, plaids and stripes is so inexpensive ... only $28. Made of polyester ... which means washable. Wear it with gold chains or a chiffon scarf from early until late ... at that price you might even want a couple ...

And while we are talking about spring knits ... that little gem of a knit dress, By Bobbie Brooks so simple with its own tie belt, comes in red, navy, and pastel, solid and stripes ... Priced from $16.00 to $22.00 ... is a knock-out! Just try one on ... you will see ...

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The

Neon Ceiling," NBC's Monday night "World Premiere" feature, was far off television's beaten track, a drama with something to say about human relationships.

The story, about adults who were immature and selfish and a child who had to assume adult responsibilities too soon, was done with sensitivity and skill.

It told of a disturbed woman who took her 13-year-old daughter and impulsively ran away from a cold marriage.

Their car breaks down in the desert at a shabby roadside rest run by a gentle, beer-drinking individualist. The man takes them in and a strong relationship develops, particularly between the lonely child and the understanding man.

The story moves to a poignant climax when the child, caught up in puppy love, finds that a real love affair has been building between the man and her mother.

The story was perfectly fitted to the small screen, played out by three characters. There were moving and subtle performances by Gig Young as the man and Lee Grant as the disturbed woman. Youngster Denise Nickerson presented a remarkable portrait of a very old little girl, popping bubble gum and carrying a stuffed panda while trying to figure out the details of grownup relationships.

The result was no cop-out with

man and woman together and pushed the child back into a lonely and hostile world.

These "World Premiere" features run the gamut from standard whodunits to an occasional dramatic standout such as "My Sweet Charlie" a couple of seasons back. They encounter the same ups and downs in audience favor that are met by reruns of old movies.

In the most recent Nielsen ratings, between Jan. 25 and 31,

"City Beneath the Sea," a science fiction effort and pilot for a projected series, wound up 62nd on a list of 75 shows. A couple of weeks earlier, a rip-roaring murder story landed "World

Premiere" high on the popularity chart.

It appears that Henry Fonda's

"Smith Family" on ABC is, in terms of audience acceptance, the most successful of the mid-season entries. It ranked 28th in the new Nielsen report. "The

New Andy Griffith Show," while still out of the hit class, is at least getting passing grades, where his old "Headmaster" was flunking.

Mike Huckabee was presented the second quarter Joe Amour Service Award recently by Principal Bobby Whitmarsh at Hope High School.

Mike Huckabee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Huckabee of Hope, was presented the second quarter Joe Amour Service Award in the Hope High School principal's office Wednesday, February 3.

"Mike is one of very few underclassmen to receive this high award," commented Principal Bobby Whitmarsh when he made the presentation.

Mike is president of the Sophomore Class and with this office holds membership on the Student Council. He was chairman of the council project "Operation: Goodwill" through which about 60 children were guests of the school at a Christmas party.

He is sports announcer for KXAR this year, following the football and basketball teams. His Dad is his constant companion on these trips since Mike is not yet a qualified driver.

When he was in the eighth grade, he received the Good Citizenship award given by the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

WHERE DO OLD MANIKINS GO WHEN THEY DIE?

Dear Helen:

I need a male manikin for a school project (in connection with an election campaign). I've looked and asked in every department store, but not one has a manikin they want to get rid of. I wouldn't mind a damaged one I could repair.

I was told by a friend to ask you because you have never failed to help someone with a problem. So will you please help me find a male manikin?—MALE IN SEARCH OF A MANIKIN

Dear Male:

I may have just struck out in the "help" department because, frankly, I don't know where old manikins go when they die. You might try Salvation Army or other Thrift Shop pick-up centers. Perhaps a store in a neighboring big city might have a discard. Or how about the city dump?

P.S. I don't even know whether the plural is manikins' or 'menkin'. Sorry.—H.

Dear Helen:

Your column on "Does a Girl Have To" inspired this: WHAT IS A PREGNANT SCHOOL GIRL

It's hoping at first that you're just "late" then deciding that maybe you've skipped a period, and finally facing the truth.

It's thinking about an abortion but knowing that God has entrusted a new life to you and you have no right to take its fate into your own hands.

It's wanting "him" to respond with, "I'm going to be a Daddy? That's wonderful!" but worrying that it might sound more like, "Why'd you let this happen?" "What are my parents going to say?" "I guess you know you've really shot my college plans." Or even worse, "Good luck, kid, you're on your own."

It's the hours of worry about whether or not to tell your parents when you know all the time you'll have to.

It's finally saying, "I have bad news... I think I'm pregnant," to your best friend after you've kept it to yourself as long as you can; and seeing the shock all over her face, hearing her respond, "You can't be!"

It's examining yourself in the mirror each morning to see if you show yet and hoping no one has guessed.

It's suffering the worry that you'll start showing and won't be able to stay in school till the end of the semester.

It's finally telling "him" and hearing him say, "Why'd it have to happen to us?" but none of the expected accusations.

It's telling your parents, seeing their misery, and wishing you could turn back the clock.

It's just leaving, with no fond good-byes and knowing that it will be even worse when you get back.

It's being sorry for yourself, for those you've shamed and hurt and, most of all, the fatherless baby who didn't ask to be born.

—JOYCE

Dear Helen:

I disagree violently with your idea that the male should be behind the steering wheel, whether he or his girl friend owns the car. You admitted this was a "super-unmodern attitude." It's also super dumb.

My boy friend doesn't own a car so I drive us around most of the time. After all, I pay the insurance and, while mine covers another driver, some insurances don't. In this age group, statistics show the female is less deadly than the male when it comes to accidents. I pity people who still feel the need of sitting in the appropriate seat to prove masculinity or femininity. As for "snuggling up" I'm sure your male writer was being humorous, but driving with one hand, whether it's female or male, is unsafe at any speed. Life would be safer if there were fewer lovers on the road. Really, I'm not super-unromantic, just a — WISE FEMALE DRIVER

Dear Wise: (All ten of you gals who chided me about my "un-modern advice.")

I take it all back. You girls win the argument, hands down (or I should say — on the wheel.)

Actually, my male correspondent WAS trying to be funny, and so, heaven help me, was I! If you own the car and pay the insurance — and enjoy driving (which I don't!) — then your boy friend should be the passenger, at proper distance. — H.

Local Teams Win 2 From Ashdown

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Although stumbling through the first half with just a two point lead the Hope Kittycats held off the Ashdown Pantherettes and pulled out a 35-29, victory.

Hope, with a present 15-6 record, will travel to Lewisville, Thursday, for the district tournament.

After quickly falling behind, 4-0, the Kittycats got on the scoreboard on a free throw by Gigi Gladney and later tied the score at four all on a three point splurge by Corry Coleman.

Even with another free shot by Gladney with no time left on the clock, the Kittycats trailed, 6-7, moving into the second period.

Hope took two small leads early on points by Coleman and Gladney, but hit a cold streak and saw the lead slip away, until Coleman hit back-to-back goals with just less than two and a half minutes.

With the score knotted up later, Coleman hit a jump shot with four seconds left to give Hope a slim 19-17 halftime lead.

After intermission, the Kittycats came out and only allowed Ashdown three points in the third quarter, while scoring nine themselves.

Pogo Griffin, who was starting in place of Jill Herring, who was ill, started things off with a charity shot and after Gladney sank two field goals, Hope owned a 24-19 lead, with 2:53 to go in the period.

Three points by Coleman and a free throw by Gladney finished out the third stanza, with Hope holding a 28-20, margin.

As Gladney exchanged points with Jane Walker of Ashdown, the Kittycats were just holding on to the lead and taking their time. And 25 seconds after Coleman hit an easy layup, they had another big win.

Coleman hit 16 points, Gladney sank 16, and Griffin had four, while Walker led the Pantherettes with 12.

In the second game, the Bobkittens held a seven point halftime lead, but had to really struggle to pull out a 34-31, victory in the last few seconds of the game.

Taking the first quarter tipoff, Hope hit quickly on a field goal by Jimmy Smith, but seconds later the score was knotted at two all.

With the lead changing back and forth, the first period ended in a 6-6, tie, after Bud Martin sank a free throw with 1:27 left.

Scoring evenly the first few minutes of the second quarter, Hope appeared to begin pulling away. A jumpshot by David Huddleston and a difficult close shot in heavy traffic with 58 seconds left by Tim Hogan, gave the Kittens a 16-12 lead, and later, after Martin hit another charity throw with 28 seconds to play, Hope took a 19-12 halftime margin.

Although scoring only two points in the third period, after taking the tipoff, Hope still managed to hold a 21-20, lead heading into the last period. Only Martin could hit a field goal while the defensive side of Hope only allowed eight to Ashdown, five by Jay Barentine.

Points by Ricky Trotter and Smith opened the scoring, but a minute later, Ashdown had finally come back and knotted the score at 24 all.

Tied three more times, Hope finally got the lead back with 2:01 left, after Smith had rebounded and flipped the ball back through for a 32-30 margin. Two charity shots by Hogan, with 22 seconds showing on the clock, iced the victory down.

Smith led Hope with 11 points, with Huddleston hitting eight,

Bobcats, Girls Go to Ashdown

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Tonight, the Bobcats and Ladycats travel to Ashdown for a couple of big games with the Panthers and Pantherettes.

Ashdown handed the Bobcats their first loss of the season, an 80-69 decision, with four players scoring in double figures. Out of the starting five, only one player is under 6'2", which gives Ashdown pretty good rebounding.

That first loss to Ashdown really doesn't mean anything now, because look how far the Bobcats have come since that opening game. They're leading the 4AA West division and holding a 14-6 record.

However, before the Bobcats play, the Ladycats will battle the Pantherettes, and their hands should be full.

Hope won the first meeting, 43-41 in a real close one down to the wire, with two Ladycats hitting double figures, while Cynthia Clay, the leading scorer for Ashdown, hit 23 points that game.

So, if you can make it to Ashdown tonight, then go cheer these teams, and if you can't, the first game will be broadcast on KXAR.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — There was just the simple announcement over the public address system at the New Orleans Fair Grounds that a $2 bet had just paid off $25,527.

They had to announce it over the loudspeaker because they can't fit a sum like $25,527 into the flashing lights on the tote board.

The collective gasp from the crowd of 7,000 was a mixture of astonishment, delight and envy.

"I was so shocked all I could think about was getting home," said Calvin McManus, a 21-year-old Navy veteran of Vietnam who now works as a bus boy in a New Orleans restaurant. He held the winning ticket Monday.

McManus, wearing a floppy hat left over from his Navy days, arrived at the horse race track "with only $10 to bet and that $2 on the exacta was my first bet of the day."

The first exacta was the fourth race. To win an exacta, the bettor must pick the winner and runnerup.

McManus was the only one at the track who managed to turn added 18.

Allan Pruett scored 26 points to pace the Indians, while John Belcher and Steve Brooks each chipped in with 14.

Texas Arlington outrebounded ASU 39-30 and hit 52 per cent of its shots from the field. The Indians connected on 46 per cent from the field.

UTA led 45-43 at the half.

UCLA Just Does Climb Back to Top

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

By the margin of a four-point victory on the court and a four-point victory in the voting, UCLA is once again holding down the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press college basketball poll.

The Bruins, defending national champions, clawed their way back to the top by virtue of a 64-60 victory over Southern California, their previously unbeaten crosstown neighbors, last Saturday night.

That victory convinced an AP board of sports writers and broadcasters from across the country that UCLA had earned its way back to the top. But, it must be said, The AP board wasn't overly convinced.

Marquette, which had taken over the No. 1 spot after UCLA was upset by Notre Dame two weeks ago, ran its all-winning streak to 18 games last week and outpolled UCLA in first place votes in The AP poll, 22-17. But the Bruins' over-all vote-getting strength totaled 746 points, four more than Marquette.

A first-place vote in The AP poll is worth 20 points, second place 18, third place 16, etc. Thus it was possible for UCLA, while trailing in first place votes, to overtake Marquette in the total points. The margin was four points—the same edge the Bruins held over USC on the court.

USC's loss to UCLA hurt not only Marquette's standing in the poll, but the Trojans' as well. Southern Cal fell one notch from second to third, totaling 597 points—30 more than Pennsylvania, which remained fourth.

Kansas had one first place vote—the only one that didn't go to either Marquette or UCLA—included in the 521 points which kept the Jayhawks fifth in this week's voting. Jacksonville remained No. 6 with 395 points.

Western Kentucky moved up two spots to seventh place with 313 points and intra-state rival Kentucky totaled an even 300 to remain eighth.

Notre Dame, up three notches to ninth, and South Carolina, down three places to No. 10, complete the Top Ten this week.

The Top Twenty teams with total points and first place votes in parentheses. Points awarded on a 20-18-16-14 etc. basis:

1. UCLA (17) 746
2. Marquette (22) 742
3. Southern California 597
4. Pennsylvania 567
5. Kansas (1) 521
6. Jacksonville 395
7. Western Kentucky 313
8. Kentucky 300
9. Notre Dame 180
10. South Carolina 169
11. North Carolina 145
12. Duquesne 133
13. LaSalle 83
14. Tennessee 75
15. Houston 73
16. Michigan 60
17. Murray State 55
18. Villanova 50
19. Utah State 44
20. Fordham 39

that trick in the fourth race.

For one thing, Mae W.S., the horse he picked to win, was such a long shot she paid $281.60.

The horse he chose for second, Driprint, hadn't inspired much confidence either, paying $17.40.

The exacta payoff was a record for horse tracks in North America. The previous high was $9,224 last Nov. 14 at Lincoln Downs.

After a conference with his family, McManus returned to the track to pick up his check and sign the W-2 form which an alert U.S. Internal Revenue Service provides for all mutual winners.

"It's the first time I've ever won a big amount like this," he said. "I don't think I'll be back for a while. Maybe I will go back to school."

Hot Night for Giant of Jacksonville

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was just another night for Jacksonville giant Artis Gilmore while, for Mississippi's hot-shot Johnny Neumann, it was one of those nights.

Gilmore did everything on the court but referee Monday night's game as the sixth-ranked Dolphins bombed New Orleans Loyola 111-93 for their 10th straight victory and a 15-2 record. The 7-foot-2 star scored 24 points, hauled in 28 rebounds and blocked 11 shots.

Neumann scored 22 for the Rebels, a respectable total for just about anyone else—but his poorest performance of the season. He went into the game with a 41.3 average but Tennessee's box-and-one defense enabled the 14th-ranked Volunteers to come away with an 80-74 triumph.

In other major collegiate action Kansas ripped Colorado 91-67, Dayton stunned Western Kentucky 63-60, Kentucky walloped Mississippi State 102-83, Notre Dame belted Butler 93-81, Utah State trounced Tulane 103-81 and North Carolina squeezed by North Carolina State 65-63.

The Vols' defense, devised by Coach Ray Mears, limited Neumann to 19 shots. The sophomore star hit 11 of them. The score was knotted 38-38 at the half but Tennessee hit the first nine points of the second half and, with Neumann in foul trouble, held off the Rebels.

"Artis had a super game," Jacksonville Coach Tom Wasdin exulted. "He proved who the king is."

Loyola Coach Bob Luksta agreed. "Credit Gilmore for having learned a lot of basketball since we played him last year" when the Dolphins won 96-75. "He moves around better, his defense is better, his offense is better and his technique of blocking shots is much improved. He has to be the No. 1 college player."

Mark Williams came off the bench to pump in a career-high 22 points for the fifth-ranked Jayhawks, who were unable to keep high-scoring Colorado ace Cliff Meely from taking game honors with 25. Dave Robisch topped Kansas with 24.

Dayton's George Jackson starred at both ends of the court as the Flyers tripped seventh-ranked Western Kentucky. The 6-foot-7 center limited the Hill-toppers' 7-foot star Jim McDaniels to 19 points—two of them in the second half.

He also led Dayton with 16, including seven as the Flyers broke away from a 55-55 tie in the closing minutes.

Kentucky, which will have to do without Coach Adolph Rupp for a while, woke up in the second half to muzzle the Bulldogs. The eighth-ranked Wildcats held a four-point lead with 14:30 to play before breaking Mississippi State's full-court press and taking a 65-50 lead in a three-minute stretch. Tom Parker led Kentucky with 32 points, Jack Bouldin had 34 for the losers.

Rupp, the winningest coach in collegiate history, was hospitalized with a foot infection after the game. He directed Kentucky with a bedroom slipper on his left foot. Athletic Director Harry Lancaster said the doctors "ordered him not to come here tonight—but you know what a competitor he is."

Austin Carr and John Pleick teamed for 33 of Notre Dame's first 35 points, then the ninth-ranked Irish broke open their slim three-point lead by outscoring Butler 17-8 in the final three minutes. Carr finished with 36 while Butler was led by Billy Shepherd with 28.

Utah State's 19th-ranked Aggies breezed to a 52-39 halftime lead, then opened the margin to as many as 25 in the second half against Tulane. Marv Roberts' 26 points and Bob Lauritski with 24 led the winners. John Sutter had 23 for the Green Wave.

North Carolina squandered a 15-point halftime lead as North Carolina State knotted the game 63-63 with 29 seconds to play before Lee Dedmon sank the free throw that decided the game. Ed Lettwich led the winning 11th-ranked Tar Heels with 24. Bill Chamberlain had 18 for N.C. State.

Tuesday, February 9, 1971 left to trim Seattle 87-84, Tim Kowall and Craig Love teamed for 47 points as Ohio University nipped Chicago Loyola 77-72, a goal-tending call against Kansas State's Dave Hall with 11 seconds to play gave Oklahoma State a 51-50 victory and Florida State wiped out Georgia Tech's 43-39 halftime margin to take an 81-76 triumph.

And VMI finally won a game. The Keydets, the only major college team without a victory this year—they had lost 24 straight including 19 this season—upset Richmond 73-63.

"It certainly did feel good to win, but I honestly felt and have felt all along that VMI was a better team than 0-19," Coach Mike Schuler said.

Porks Quickly Sign Up Nine Players

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —The University of Arkansas announced the signing of nine football players to letters of intent today, the first day South-west Conference schools could sign prospective athletes.

Included among the signees were two all-stars from Joplin, Mo., quarterback Tom Warren and tackle Lee King. Warren, 6-2, 185, passed for more than 3,000 yards during the past two years. King, 6-3, 255, was highly sought by several schools in the midwest and is undefeated this year as a heavyweight wrestler.

In addition to Warren, the Razorbacks signed two other quarterbacks—Mark Miller, 6-2, 185, of Augusta and Larry Phillips, 6-2, 183, of Fort Smith Northside.

Here are other early signees: Marvin Dailey, 6-2, 220, Alma fullback-linebacker.

John Atkins, 6-2, 187, Ozark running back.

Joey Shelton, 6-0, 186, Little Rock Central linebacker.

Rickey Gray, 6-1, 185, Jacksonville linebacker.

Hal McAfee, 6-0, 210, Little Rock Catholic end-linebacker.

Floridians Register 2nd Straight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Floridians, propelled by six players who scored double figures, defeated Pittsburgh 106-97 to register their second straight home triumph Monday night.

Though still in cellar position in the American Basketball Association's east division, the victory lifted the Floridians to within a game of the Condors, who occupy the second lowest spot.

No other league games were scheduled Monday.

Mack Calvin headed the honor roll for the Floridians with 29, despite a dismal seven-for-23 showing from the floor. George Thompson was high for Pittsburgh with 26.

The Condors played without their leading scorer, guard John Briskier, who is nursing a combination groin and hamstring muscle pull.

Five Floridians scored between 12 and 15 points in the balanced offensive effort.

Division leader, Virginia, is 17 games ahead of the last-placed Floridians.

In the NBA, Milwaukee Bucks trampled the Phoenix Suns 118-94 in the only scheduled game.

Northside Rated Tops in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fort Smith Northside, sporting a 16-1 record, held on to the lead this week in The Associated Press high school basketball poll.

Northside received seven of 12 first place votes and 123 total points from a panel of Arkansas sportswriters and sports broadcasters.

Northside picked up victories last week over Little Rock Hall and El Dorado.

Hot Springs remained second this week and Little Rock Horace Mann held on to the No. 3 spot. Tuckerman, 26-0 for the season, was fourth, followed by Cave City.

North Little Rock moved up from eighth to sixth, followed by Harrison and Blytheville.

Stamps moved up from 10th to ninth and Jonesboro Westside moved into the 10th position this week.

Rogers, ranked ninth last week dropped out of the top ten after losing to Bentonville.

Here are the results of the poll with first place votes and team records in parenthesis and total points at right:

1. FS Northside (7) (16-1)	123
2. Hot Springs (3) (17-1)	111
3. Horace Mann (1) (17-1)	104
4. Tuckerman (1) (28-0)	85
5. Cave City (27-1)	60
6. North Little Rock (14-4)	56
7. Harrison (24-2)	56
8. Blytheville (1) (21-3)	42
9. Stamps (22-1)	18
10. Jonesboro Westside (22-5)	17

Nueces River Heads Field at Oaklawn

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Nueces River, trained by Doug Davis Jr., heads a field of six 3-year-olds in today's $6,500 feature race at Oaklawn Park here.

Nueces River will carry 114 pounds with jockey James McKnight aboard.

Others going the 5 1/2 furlongs in the allowance event include, Brut Force, Bixa, Cornish Sister, Rapid Tim and Uncle Davis.

W. A. Lofton's Blonde Lady made shambles of a field of six other 3-year-old fillies Monday and won the $5,000 feature race by a five-length margin over Pelani.

Blonde Lady posted the second best 5 1/2 furlongs sprint at the meeting, 1:05 3-5, on a fast track.

The 4-5 favorite returned $3.80, $3.00 and $2.60.

Pelani, ridden by J. L. Liveley, returned $3.80 and $2.80 and Lapel Dutchess, with Larry Snyder aboard, showed for $3.20.

stone Saturday by scoring 19 points against San Francisco and ran his total to 23,052, passing injured Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles. Another Laker, Wilt Chamberlain, is the all-time leader with 28,691 points.

West's total is 20,698, just 182 shy of retired St. Louis star Bob Pettit.

Lew Alcindor, Robertson's Milwaukee teammate, maintained his season scoring lead with 31.5 average to 29.1 for San Diego's Elvin Hayes.

Cincinnati's Johnny Green regained the field goal percentage lead at 59.6 before he was hurt Sunday night. Alcindor is the runner-up at 58.7.

Other leaders are Seattle's Dick Snyder in free throw percentage at 85.8 to Robertson's 85.5; Cincinnati's Norm Van Lier with 10.1 assists per game to West's 9.5 and Chamberlain in rebounds with a 19.0 average to 17.7 for Baltimore's Gus Johnson.

Lance Alworth Drops Suit Against NFL

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Lance Alworth says he is staying in professional football with the San Diego Chargers and dropping his $5.6-million suit against the National Football League team. A settlement, he says, met his demands "more or less half way."

Alworth, a three-time all-pro receiver, says he's also forgetting an antitrust suit against the NFL and its 26 teams.

"Football has been my life," he told a news conference Monday night. "I came to the decision that I wanted to be remembered as a darn good football player rather than a guy who sued football."

In his suit filed last Dec. 7, the 30-year-old Alworth accused the Chargers of breach of contract and asked that his tie to the team be declared null and void.

A companion suit filed the same day in federal court challenged the structure of professional football. At the time, Alworth had declared bankruptcy because of the failure of a string of quick-clean businesses in the San Diego area and other interests.

Satchel Paige Going Into Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Satchel Paige, who spent many futile years trying to break baseball's racial barrier several decades ago, is virtually a sure bet to make it into the game's Hall of Fame today.

He doesn't qualify under regular balloting for the shrine in Cooperstown, N.Y., since he did not play the required 10 years of major league ball.

But last Wednesday, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced formation of a special 10-member committee—which met Monday—to select a player "as part of a new exhibit commemorating the contributions of the Negro leagues to baseball."

Also under likely consideration are Josh Gibson, Oscar Charleston, John Henry Lloyd, Cool Papa Bell, Buck Leonard, Ray Dandridge, Judy Johnson and Cannonball Redding.

Nobody really knows how old Paige is—he claims he was born in 1906—but he broke into pro ball in 1926 with the Chattanooga Black Lookouts, then went on to a brilliant career with the Kansas City Monarchs.

He finally made the majors in 1948—one year after Jackie Robinson broke the color line with the Brooklyn Dodgers—when the Cleveland Indians signed him.

He appeared in the World Series against the Boston Braves that year and went on to compile a 28-31 major league career

Panel members Judy Huneycutt, Jack Turner, Tommy Holt, Jimmy Pruden and Sandra McFarland listen as Paul Moss makes a point, discussing problems at Hope High School at the Delta Kappa Gamma Society meeting.

"Rapping with Pruden," six Hope High School students discussed student unrest at the Tuesday, February 2, meeting of Alpha Delta Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma Society.

Jimmy Pruden, editor-in-chief of the Hope Hi-Lights, was moderator of the group which included Sandra McFarland, Student Council associate secretary; Judy Huneycutt, Bobette parliamentarian; Jack Turner, Junior Class president; Paul Moss, Senior Class vice president; and Tommy Holt, Student Council president.

Although it was agreed by the students that unrest is no problem at Hope High School, they discussed dissatisfaction in areas of communication, instruction, and student representation. Information for the program was collected by members of the Journalism I classes.

Jack Turner summed up their remarks by saying that he hoped that problems will be de-emphasized and education re-emphasized at the high school.

Arrangements for the program were made by Mrs. Mary Nell Turner, publications adviser and journalism instructor.

Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, president, led in the discussion of the society's business following the program. Refreshments were served to 18 members and the guests by Mrs. E. H. Stewart, hostess, and Mrs. T. E. Hays, Mrs. Joe Eason, co-hostesses.

Mackey Slated to Go Before U.S. Probers

By MICHAEL A. VERESPEJ

Associated Press Writer
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — John Mackey, president of the Professional Football Players Association and a tight end for the world champion Baltimore Colts, was to testify today before a federal grand jury investigating owner-player relations in the National Football League.

The jury, called in November by the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Justice Department, heard testimony Monday from Jack Kemp, former pro quarterback and president of the Players' association, and Alan Miller, former AFL player and legal counsel for the association.

Kemp, a quarterback for 13 years and now a New York congressman, said he told the grand jury he would like to see "any inequities that do exist be resolved within the structure of pro football."

Pro football has been a tremendous vehicle for football players," added Kemp, "and I don't want to see the Golden Goose scuttled."

"In my eight years with the American Football League Players Association, the grievance committee didn't receive one case of blackball," he said.

Kemp was president of the AFL Players' Association from 1965 until it merged with the NFL Players Association in 1970.

Miller, a fullback with the Oakland Raiders for six years and legal counsel for the Players' Association until his resignation 10 days ago, testified after Kemp.

"It is a question of who is going to remedy the inequities and I prefer the family solution over federal legislation," said Miller.

Although admitting that the players are seeking modifications in the option clause, he said most believe "chaos would result from its abolition."

No one has showed me anything better than what we have now," he said. "Competition among teams is the one primary ingredient to success, and the common draft and the op-record, making his final appearance with the Kansas City A's in 1965. The Atlanta Braves activated him in 1968, enabling him to qualify for a pension.

tion clause are what maintain competition."

The option clause requires a player who wants to switch teams to play out his last year with his current team at a 10 per cent pay cut.

Miller added that pro football "does not easily adapt itself to normal rules that apply to non-athletic ventures."

Both Kemp and Miller said that they felt the current probe went deeper than mere black-balling by owners.

Kemp said it appeared that the jury was looking into the entire structure of the NFL and whether it advances player and fan interests in its operation.

"With 26 teams all scrambling to win and stay on top," said Kemp, "to me this would preclude the possibility of a team turning down good football players."

While talent is important, Kemp added that coaches look for other qualities such as attitude and loyalty.

Alcindor Gets 39 in Win Over Suns

By BOB GREENE

Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Several years ago, when he was playing at Power Memorial High in New York City, Lew Alcindor was listed as a "player to watch."

Monday night, the Phoenix Suns watched while the 7-foot-2 Alcindor bombarded the nets for 39 points and grabbed 23 rebounds to lead the Milwaukee Bucks to a 118-94 National Basketball Association victory.

In the rival American Basketball Association, the Floridians stopped Pittsburgh 106-97.

"The big guy intimidates us," Phoenix Coach "Cotton" Fitzsimmons moaned about Alcindor. "He even intimidated us the last five minutes when he was sitting on the bench. Every time we drove toward the basket we started looking for him."

The NBA's top scorer, Alcindor treated a capacity crowd of 10,746 to one of his finest all-around games. Several times he ended a Bucks' fast break with one of his net-ripping dunks. Another time, he paced Milwaukee's stampede downcourt by dribbling the full length of the floor, finally passing off to Oscar Robertson for an easy two points.

At the other end of the court, Alcindor blocked several shots

Lund Trying to Qualify Another Car

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Tiny Lund will try today to qualify another of his racing cars in the final four events in Daytona's "Speed Week's" program.

Lund, a 265-pound giant who owns a fishing camp on Lake Marion in South Carolina, won the pole position Monday for Saturday's Permatex 300 for late model sportsman cars.

He sped around the 2.5 mile Daytona International Speedway at 179.974 miles per hour to put his 1968 Ford into the front row. He was more than five m.p.h. faster than Red Farmer of Hueytown, Ala., who got the other

Today Lund is expected to qualify a 1970 Dodge for one of two 125 mile races Thursday that will determine 38 starters in the $200,000 Daytona 500 for Grand National cars.

In between, the native of Keokuk, Iowa, will get in some practice in a camaro that he will drive in Friday's Citrus 250 over the speedway's 3.91 mile track-road course.

Cale Yarborough of Timmons-ville, S. C., became the 31st driver to qualify for the two 125 mile races. He drove a Plymouth at 175.080 and joins 30 others who got under the timing clocks last Saturday.

A. J. Foyt of Houston, Texas, won the pole for Sunday's Daytona 500 in the first round of trials, posting 182.744 in a Mercury. Bobby Isaac's 180.050 in a Dodge gave him the other front row purse — the only ones definitely settled.

At least 40 drivers still had not posted lap times.

Barber 2nd in Pro Golf Moneywise

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Shaw's victory in the Hawaiian Open vaulted him into the money-winning lead for this year on the Professional Golfer's Association tour.

Shaw has earned $69,752 so far, $10,511 more than Miller Barber who is second with $59,241.

Barber, who won the Phoenix Open two weeks ago, leads in points with 55,541.5 compared to Shaw's 41,265. George Archer is third in both races with $37,607 and 33,776.6 points.

Points are based on each player's winnings in 72-hole tournaments, except those involving team partnerships and Caribbean tour events. They are important to the players because they are used to help determine playing privileges for next year.

The top ten money-winners: 1, Tom Shaw $69,752; 2, Miller Barber $59,241; 3, George Archer $37,607; 4, Billy Casper $30,480; 5, Bob Lunn $28,915; 6, Arnold Palmer $27,181; 7, Dave Eichelberger $25,395; 8, Bob Murphy $18,744; 9, DeWitt Weaver $14,878; 10, Howie Johnson $12,924.

and forced the Suns to miss numerous layups even when he didn't touch the ball.

"He's the only big man I've seen in pro ball who looks like he enjoys playing the game," Fitzsimmons said.

The Bucks needed Alcindor's performance to run their league-leading record to 47 victories against 11 losses. Phoenix, despite a 35-24 won-lost record, is in fourth place, 12 games behind Milwaukee, in the Midwest Division race.

With Connie Hawkins popping in 19 of his 23 points, the Suns battled Milwaukee pretty evenly in the first half. The Bucks broke a 13-13 deadlock as Alcindor and Greg Smith teamed up for eight straight points, giving Milwaukee a 21-14 advantage.

But Hawkins put on a one-man show for two minutes and Dick VanArsdale's baseline jumper put Phoenix ahead, 27-26.

Milwaukee, however, took a 36-31 lead at the first stop, stretched it to 63-54 at the half, then out-scored the Suns 29-19 in the third period to put the game out of reach.

Italian Wins Downhill Ski Contest

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.
Associated Press Sports Editor
SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — An Italian hotel keeper seeking publicity won the men's downhill ski race of the Pre-Olympic Winter Games today (Tuesday), followed by a favorite's little brother and an American student in his first international competition.

But the women's 15-meter cross-country relay race of International Winter Sports Week went according to form, won easily by the Soviet team, which includes two world champions and a third-place holder.

So did the two-man bobsled competition, with last year's World Championship team of West Germans Horst Floth and Josef Bader beating out the Swiss, who had led at the end of the first two heats Monday. Through Tuesday's events, the Russians had two gold medals in men's and women's cross-country relay, Italy one in the downhill, West Germany one in bobsledding, and Japan one in the 70-meter jump.

Marcello Varallo of Lavilla in Val Gardena, Italy, sped down the short downhill course in 1:55.32 minutes. Switzerland's Michele Daetwyler was second in 1:55.70 and Paul Crews of the United States third in 1:56.40.

Varallo, 23, rated a good downhiller but never before a winner, said his father died several years ago, leaving him to care for a small hotel and his mother.

"We don't get many guests in our hotel," he said. "I want to win several more international races to make a name so that I can attract tourists to my hotel. Then I'll retire from skiing."

Daetwyler also had never finished in a top place, and was rated behind his brother, Jean Daniel, who was third in the downhill at the Grenoble Olympics in 1968. But this time Jean Daniel wound up ninth in 1:57.19 while his younger brother sped into second place.

The Soviet girl cross-country world champion, Galina Kulakova and Alevtina Olumina, both 28, teamed up with Nine Fedorova, who holds a bronze medal in world competition.

Grenoble Olympic champion Franz Keller of West Germany placed third after two Japanese leaders in the 70-meter ski jump but still is favored to win the Nordic combined championship.

Keller aggregated 218.5 points with leaps of 83 and 75 meters. In the 15-kilometer combined cross-country race Wednesday, however, he must beat Japan's Hiroshi Itagaki and Nobutaka Sasaki to win the title.

Itagaki took the lead after Tuesday's jumping event, garnering a total of 224.5 points with leaps of 81 and 78 meters. Sasaki trailed him with 223.0 points following jumps of 82 and 78 meters.

The best times in the 500-meter speed skating trials were posted by Alla Bujanova, Russia, 45.86.

Sweden's Uve Koenig finished the men's 500 meters in 39.54. His teammate, Hasse Borjes, turned in 39.67 for second and Neil Blatchford of the United States was third in 40.19.

In the 1,000 meters, Borjes was fastest in 1:23.83, and Russia's Valery Troitsky led the 5,000 meters in 7:58.84. Japan's Emiko Taguchi was fastest in the women's 1,500 meters in 2:30.6.

Bill to Aid Students in College

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Each of the nation's 5 million college undergraduates would be eligible for up to $1,200 a year federal tuition aid under a broad higher education financing bill introduced in the Senate today. Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate education subcommittee, proposed the plan, which he estimated would cover all students with incomes of less than $10,000 annually. Each student would receive $1,200 minus the amount of federal income taxes paid by himself or his parents. It is a radical plan, Pell said, but something must be done to

In our book on JACOBY MODERN we stress working points. They are points that really work for you. North has only 14 high-card points but when South responds in his four-card suit North's distribution becomes really worthwhile and he can afford to jump to three spades. South's continuation to four spades is automatic.

Unless South is right careful he won't make his contract. If he hangs out the ace and king of trumps the 3-1 break will beat him provided West waits until he gets in with a heart before playing his queen of trumps.

The winning line of play is rather complicated but guards against almost all accidents. South plays just one round of trumps. Then he plays the ace, king and another club from dummy and discard his six of diamonds. If he ruffs the third club, West will overruff and put his partner on lead with a diamond to lead a fourth club and give a second overruff.

After this start the hand becomes easy. If East plays his last club, South ruffs and it doesn't matter what West does. If he overruffs and leads his last trump South can set up the last club for one heart discard and will lose just one heart trick.

If East plays a diamond South is able to ruff. Then he leads a heart. If another diamond is played he ruffs that also. Then he takes a second round of trumps and uses his last trump to ruff a lead of dummy's fourth club. This uses up his last trump, but dummy is now good except for West's queen of trumps.

We will leave the other variations to you to work out. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

help colleges and universities "which are suffering impending financial disaster."

The multi-billion-dollar bill includes $1.4 billion for student grants, $250 million of supplemental help for particularly needy students, and instruction allowances to be paid colleges at the rate of $1,000 per student, less the tuition charged each student.

Education subcommittee aides said the cost of the instruction allowance section could not be estimated, since it is uncertain how many institutions would alter their tuition structure to take advantage of the federal money.

"It is my philosophical belief that the federal government must play a major and ever increasing role in support of higher education," Pell said.

Don't Ignore Signal of Repeated Dizzy Spells

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have been suffering from dizzy spells for a year and a half. Blood tests and X rays show nothing. But I still have these dizzy spells where I almost completely black out. What could cause this problem and what can I do to get some help?

Dear Reader—Dizzy spells are caused by many different things. Children get dizzy from whirling around and around in a circle, then stopping suddenly. The small balance mechanism inside the ear is not accustomed to the circular movement and sends out confused signals to the brain. The balance mechanism called the semicircular canals or labyrinth may also become inflamed (labyrinthitis) in a variety of infections, including simple respiratory illnesses, and cause dizziness for a limited period of time.

In other people the small ear canals undergo degenerative changes for no apparent reason. This may cause recurring attacks. Treatment is often difficult.

A common cause for dizziness of this type is changes in the small arteries to the balance mechanism. This also causes buzzing and ringing in the ears and little can be done about this when it develops.

Dizziness, with "blacking out," often means fainting or near fainting episodes. This is a symptom and almost everyone has one or more of these episodes in his life. They can occur from the sight of blood, a needle prick, acute illness, as a result of certain drugs—notably tranquilizers—and a host of other factors.

The basic problem often is inadequate circulation to the brain. The mechanisms are complex. A single episode with good spontaneous recovery usually can be ignored. Repeated episodes should be investigated.

In young, healthy people this can be caused by pooling of too much blood in the legs during prolonged standing. Sometimes because of anxiety the normal heart will actually stop for a few seconds—just long enough for the person to faint. In some cases anxiety causes a person to breathe too fast and too deep. We call this hyperventilation, meaning overbreathing. This causes the body to lose too much carbon dioxide, which in turn changes the entire body chemistry and results in dizziness or faintness.

Recognizing the problem and training the person not to overbreathe—but to take slow, shallow breaths—often helps control the symptoms. Cause of the anxiety, however, needs study.

Low blood sugar can cause faintness or dizziness but this is actually not a common cause, although it is a popular idea. Many people seem to like to talk about their low blood sugar.

The problem with tests and X rays in many of these problems is that the episodes and their cause may be transitory and between episodes they show nothing. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Development Discussed

JIM SEWELL

Hope Lions heard the Rev. Jim Sewell, pastor of Presbyterian Church, speak Monday during the meeting hour at Town & Country.

The Rev. Mr. Sewell discussed the development of a church, first a sanctuary or place to worship only, then the need for study and training and the education buildings that come next, and finally fellowship halls and kitchens that promote fellowship among Christians.

The speaker contrasted the use some churches are put to in some cities such as a meeting place for community activities and in other cities as a place to worship only. Church people are recognizing more all the time that they usually have many facilities that are used only one day a week and at only a small part of their total capacity.

He concluded by observing that church education and community activity are tied together and need each other to be complete. Lion Don Freeland arranged the program.

Derris Butler, new manager of the Continental Trailways Bus station and Western Union service in Hope was introduced as a new member. He was sponsored by Lion Don Davis.

David Porterfield of Hope was guest of Paul McClelland. He is working with the Employment Security Division in Nashville.

Stock Market Has Busiest Day on Record

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange had its busiest day on record Monday as volume was boosted by the largest single block trade in Big Board history.

The exchange finished the day with volume of 25.59 million shares, exceeding the previous record of 22.03 million shares set last Tuesday. Stock market indicators showed modest gains.

A 3,248,000-share block of Allis-Chalmers was traded shortly after the opening bell. The trade was nearly double the previous record set last June 20 when 1,184,300 shares of Goodyear Tire changed hands.

The Allis-Chalmers block, traded at $18 per share, up 65 cents, amounted to some $58.4 million, the second largest block ever traded in terms of dollar value. The largest—a 730,312-share block of American Standard Preferred A traded on June 13, 1968—was worth $76.14 million.

White Consolidated Industries of Cleveland, Ohio, identified itself as the seller of the Allis-Chalmers block. A company spokesman said the transaction eliminated the company's holdings in the electrical machinery maker.

Allis-Chalmers closed at $19.25, up $1.84.

Bill Would Stop Mixed Drinks Permits

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Four representatives introduced a bill Monday that would stop the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board from issuing mixed-drink permits to private clubs in dry counties.

The bill also would permit a county court or the governing body in a municipality of a dry county to hold public hearings on whether permits already issued under the 1969 mixed-drink law should be revoked.

The court or governing body could initiate a public hearing on its own motion or on the petition of 10 county or city residents.

The ABC Board would be required to revoke the license of any private club if there is an adverse ruling after the public hearing.

The bill was introduced by Reps. John M. Lipton of Warren, Charles Honey of Prescott, Jimmie Don McKissack of Star City and Bobby Newman of Smackover.

Reps. Gean McDonald of Sheridan and Sturgis Miller of Pine Bluff introduced a bill in the House Monday to preserve the Saline River as a free flowing stream.

The bill would prohibit the construction of a dam on the river and would restrict construction that may be done within 50 feet of the river's bank.

The Army Engineers had proposed several years ago building a dam on the river, but dropped the idea during the administration of former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller. The Engineers now are reviving proposals for damming the river.

Rep. Paul Meers of Little Rock introduced a bill that would permit the state to assume control of the wholesale liquor business in Arkansas. The bill also would permit the state to take control of any retail liquor store when a store's retail permit is revoked, suspended or relinquished.

The bill would require a markup of 35 per cent on liquor sold in any state-owned liquor store. The markup on liquor sold by the state wholesaler to licensed retailers would be 25 per cent.

Meers estimated his measure would produce from $8 million to $12 million in new revenue annually.

Sen. Guy J. "Mutt" Jones of Conway introduced a bill to levy a tax of 50 cents per person admitted to a theater for the showing of any X-rated movie. The revenue would go to the state Educational Television Commission to acquire color telecasting equipment for the education studio at Conway.

Sen. Milt Earnhart of Fort Smith introduced a new "Rock Festival" bill.

The new proposal is much like one approved earlier in the Senate and defeated in the House because of fears that it would bar such noncontroversial forms of music as gospel singing. The new bill, however, adds a section defining a rock festival as a mass gathering for a performance of "rock-type music," which is defined further as music "commonly recognized as and referred to as 'rock music' by the general population."

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset Some Pottery Could Cause Lead Poison

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has announced the recall of some Italian pottery which could cause lead poisoning through its use.

The pottery, distributed nationally by Holt Howard Inc. of Stamford, Conn., contains some pieces with 400 parts of poisonous lead per million. The FDA safety guideline for lead is 7 parts per million.

The lead is a residue of the manufacturing process.

The FDA said it did not know the number of pieces distributed but a company spokesman said the number is more than 10,000.

An agency official said eating or drinking from a contaminated piece of pottery over a prolonged period of time could pose a serious health hazard. One death has been reported in Clarks, Ontario, from lead poisoning from pottery while two women, one in San Francisco and the other in Baltimore, recently suffered serious illness from pottery lead poisoning, the official said.

The recall is the second for the Howard company. The FDA ordered the company to recall 10,000 coffee mugs because of excess lead last December.

In making the recall announcement Monday, the FDA also said it has prevented 161 shipments comprising 123,774 pieces of imported pottery containing lead over the past four months.

It also said it had kept 20,000 additional pieces of pottery off the market because they contained cadmium, another poisonous metal.

The agency said tests of American manufactured pottery have uncovered no problems.

ABA Endorses Wiretapping by the U.S.

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Bar Association has endorsed the federal government's claim that it has the right to use electronic listening devices secretly in investigations into organized crime and foreign subversion.

The 297 members of the ABA's policy-making House of Delegates voted Monday approval of standards which opponents complained resembled too closely the wiretap regulations in the Omnibus Crime Act of 1968.

The ABA action established guidelines on the secret electronic listening devices which advocates said they hoped would be followed by 38 states which have no wiretap statutes.

The delegates voted down three proposed amendments that would have limited approval for use of electronic surveillance.

Supporters of the amendments said the delegates were endorsing action of a kind which the U.S. Supreme Court has held unconstitutional in the past. Jerome J. Shestack, a Philadelphia lawyer opposed to all government wiretapping, said, "The ABA standards have never been used to endorse an act of legislation and should not be so used now."

He also said the delegates were wrong in ending the ABA's six-year study of electronic surveillance while deferring action on controversial stop-and-frisk and search-and-seizure laws.

Prior to the vote Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst praised wiretapping as an effective weapon against gamblers and narcotics dealers.

Kleindienst said that since passage of the Omnibus Crime Act, which empowers the government to tap phones for specified crimes with prior approval by a federal court, federal agents have obtained 253 court orders for eavesdropping in 163 gambling investigations, 183 cases of narcotics violations and 21 extortion cases.

William J. Jameson of Billings, Mont., a retired federal judge and chief advocate of the standards, told the delegates: "We need these standards to guide state legislators."

Judge Jack G. Day of Cleveland, a leader of the fight for limiting amendments, said, "We entrust not to clergymen, doctors or lawyers, but to police, the right to determine when they will get into our lives."

Decision to Be Appeal

BOSTON (AP) — F. Lee Bailey says he is planning an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court on the order of the Supreme Court of New Jersey barring him from practice of law in that state for a year.

Bailey was accused of trying to publicize charges against the prosecution in a murder trial in 1968 in which he was counsel for the defense.

Bailey said Monday the rules in New Jersey require that a lawyer charged with misconduct be tried before a board of lawyers. In his case he said, the charge was heard by a judge.

Astronauts May Not Like Their Food

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — When Apollo astronauts don't talk about their food during conversations with Mission Control, that's an ominous sign for Rita Rapp.

"It probably means they're not happy with some of it or it's 'just food' to them," she said in an interview.

Miss Rapp recently was named one of six recipients to the Federal Women's Award for 1971, given to career government employees.

It's her job to see that Apollo crews have tasty, well planned meals during their journeys to the moon. Since 1968 Miss Rapp has been subsystems manager for Apollo food and personal hygiene items at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

"Of course," she admits, "even on earth if you ate two or three meals a day in the best restaurant for 10 or 14 days it would have a tendency to get monotonous."

Miss Rapp, a native of Piqua, Ohio, is a 15-year veteran of the space program. She holds a bachelor of science degree in biology from the University of Dayton and a master's degree in anatomy from St. Louis University.

She worked in early studies of the effects of acceleration on animals and men, helped design spacecraft couches, and participated in design of spaceship medical kits and methods of monitoring the health of the astronauts in space.

Then came the Apollo program and she volunteered to direct development of its food and feeding systems.

"It was a challenge," she said. "At first, I thought once the food was prepared and on board the spacecraft, it would settle into a routine job."

"But I quickly discovered that with each crew you get three new men with three new tastes and new ideas about what they want to eat."

In the early Apollo flights, the astronauts had dehydrated food in plastic tubes to which they added water. They squeezed the food into their mouths, like toothpaste from a tube.

"After the first few flights," Miss Rapp said, "they started complaining about the food so I had to regroup."

She had to get away from the tubes, since an astronaut couldn't smell his food.

"Taste is really part smell, anyway," she said.

A new system was designed in which water was added to a package of dehydrated food, just as in the old system. But instead of squeezing the food into his mouth, the astronaut opened the package and ate the food with a spoon.

The complaints decreased.

Trial Lawyer Still Missing

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies returned without a clue from what they called their last search for Ronald Hughes, the Sharon Tate murder trial lawyer missing since Thanksgiving.

The bearded, 250-pound novice lawyer was defending Leslie Van Houten when he disappeared on a weekend outing in wilderness northwest of Los Angeles. A veteran lawyer took over the case.

Authorities have searched periodically since then.

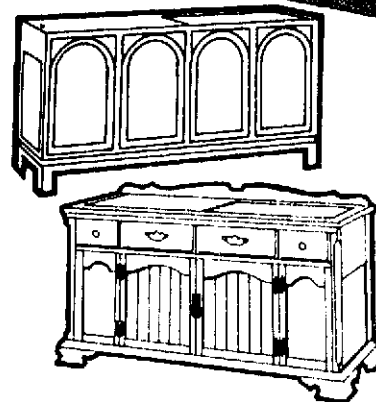

About 30 officers in jeeps and on horseback took part in the search Sunday.
